

Environmental, Health and Safety (EH&S) Management Program

Are you a facilities or production director/manager who also wears the environmental director/manager's hat? Are you an EH&S Director/Manager who has a mountain of tasks to complete? Are you competing with other companies with established, successful EH&S programs and only use an environmental consultant for a specific project or just to audit your facility for compliance issues? To ensure you reach your environmental, health and safety compliance and management goals, you should consider CAPACCIO's EH&S Management Program.

With CAPACCIO's EH&S Management Program, a knowledgeable member of CAPACCIO's staff is assigned to visit your site on a regular basis and becomes part of your EH&S team, so you can concentrate on your other tasks. With this program, you no longer have to assign part-time duties to inexperienced personnel or hire additional EH&S staff and incur the associated hiring, training, overhead and benefits costs.

As our EH&S Management Program is designed to meet your specific needs, it can complement existing staff or alleviate temporary or long-term workloads. Many companies choose to outsource several facilities/site related services such as security, cafeteria, cleaning services, grounds maintenance and administrative services to keep total costs down. Why not outsource your EH&S services in this same way?

In addition to a dedicated staff member, you also receive added support and guidance from our entire consulting firm, who can assist with the creation of your EH&S program. This ready source of capable, experienced personnel committed to performing quality, timely work allows you to utilize knowledgeable resources with no additional cost.
